

Dr. Jamyce Curtis Banks

Dr. Jamyce Curtis Banks, Founder and CEO of Whatever It Takes Consulting, Inc. is an experienced diversity consultant providing interactive learning and training for over 25 years. She has provided effective, customized professional development workshops and trainings that are highly engaging and has been a workshop presenter and keynote speaker at the local, state and national levels on topics including diversity, inclusion, unconscious bias, cultural competence, and leadership development.

Dr. Banks is a certified Cultural Intelligence (CQ) facilitator. She lead business and organizations through strategic planning using a continuous development model that includes assessment, gap analysis, plan development, and implementation monitoring.

She has been recognized for her leadership and accomplishment as the recipient of awards including the Pass The Torch For Women 2017 Entrepreneur of the Year, Center for Leadership Development Distinguished Achievement Award, the Human Rights Award for Outstanding Leadership, the YWCA Salute to Women of Achievement and the Independent Colleges Realizing the Dream Award. She serves has served in leadership positions on organizations that champion diversity and inclusion including the Children's Policy and Law Initiative, the IndySHRM Diversity Committee and the Diversity Roundtable of Central Indiana.

She thanks God for His many blessings at Little Bethel Baptist Church. She is a proud wife to husband Carlos E. Banks and mother of two sons, Carlos E. Banks II and Curtis L. Banks.